COMPANY MATCHING ... WHAT IS IT?

Most organizations today take their role in the community very seriously. They contribute in many ways from direct donations to sponsorships to giving time and expertise to help others.

A Workplace Giving Program is another way to support causes and, most importantly, to support the staff who have chosen to give money to those charities.

COMPANY MATCHING TAKES GIVING ONE STEP FURTHER

As a company, you can support the efforts of your staff by matching their contributions dollar for dollar. It's a wonderful way to demonstrate your commitment to them and to your wider social responsibilities. It can also be a great team building and loyalty building exercise! As well as matching their individual contributions you can encourage staff to get involved in fundraising activities to raise extra dollars for their favorite causes. The team effort pays off personally and contributes to a great working environment.
